COVID-19: overview of tax implications

6 may 2021

9.00 - 10.00 a.m. (english)

10.30 - 11.30 a.m. (local languages)

The COVID-19 pandemic continues to have worldwide economic, health, political but also social impacts. Governments around the world respond with legislative changes including relief measures to sustain the economy. The pandemic itself, but also the measures in mitigating its effects have tax implications, which one should be aware of when doing business in these challenging times. In our forthcoming webinar those tax implications will be discussed as well as compared among the respective SEE countries (Croatia, Slovenia and Serbia).

We look forward to sharing our knowledge and our experience with you!
